

SCIENCE EDITORS NETWORK

Grant Writing • Manuscripts • Project Planning • Scientific Consulting

July 5, 2015

Phillip Yang, M.D.
Associate Professor
Division of Cardiovascular Medicine
Department of Medicine
Stanford University Medical Center

Dear Dr. Yang,

Thank you for contracting SEN to provide editing services for your group. We will be billing you at a rate of $80 per hour. Once we have determined the requirements for each project, we will give you a time estimate for the completion of each project.

Science Editors is a small group of scientific writing consultants with Ph.D. degrees in the biomedical sciences and related fields. We work with research organizations that require editors with a strong background in science and excellent communication skills. Please see the attached document for a description of our services. I will be the Project Manager and main editor for your projects, and if necessary, will bring in additional editors from SEN to assist.

Our goal is to build long-term partnerships with clients that will allow us to match each project with an appropriate level of service. I am personally committed to the success of each my clients because I recognize that our success depends on your success. I am grateful for your support and hope to receive your feedback on this project, and hope to continue to work with you in the future.

Warm regards,

Julie Gosse
Editor, Science Editors Network
julie.pinkston@gmail.com
610-724-7556